
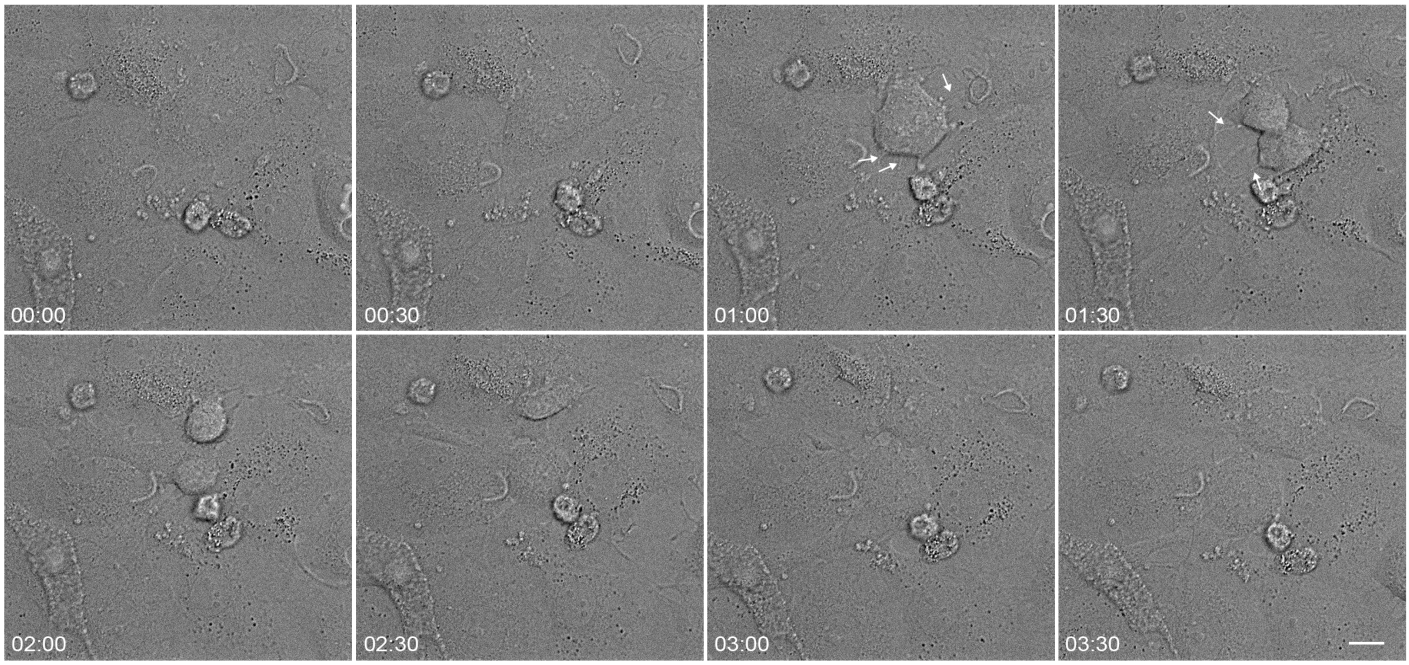

Figure S2. Mitotic cells form plasma membrane bridges with adjacent interphase cells during rounding. IAR20 cells were subjected to DIC live cell imaging, and images were collected every minute over a period of 3.5 hours. Arrows indicate plasma membrane bridges that are formed between a mitotic cell and adjacent interphase cells as the mitotic cell rounds up. Scale bar, 10 µm. For the corresponding time-lapse movie, see Movie 2.