

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

I found that the observation of time alongside the progression of feminism was very interesting, especially in the context of American literature. I thought that the exploration of different feminist ideas was important, especially when reflecting them in contemporary society and their lasting effects.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymised comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk to further explore the impact of feminism on literature, and the different interpretations of female characters throughout the years.

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

- thank you for today :)

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymised comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

I found the idea of 'The New Woman' very interesting and a useful tool as context towards my A-level exams, as well as the Flapper. I also enjoyed learning about The African Faim.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymised comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

Use the relation between time & gender to strengthen arguments in exams.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymised comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

Angel in the house different waves of feminism in more depth.
non feminist critics specifically critique literature

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

Angel in the House = women joins in their children and can't find liberty and are restricted from opportunities.
Can contextually be used upon the portrayal of Renaissance women such as the Duchess of Malgi as well as being applied to the American literature such as the Great Gatsby.
- Shalini

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

I'd like to read more texts through a feminist lens as I've learnt how to do so today.

Byron

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

How to identify the Angel in the house
The New woman and the Flapper
I plan to read and evaluate more texts from this era.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

- I'd never previously considered the overlap between time and gender terminology and would've assumed it to be confusing, however it was very easy to understand and I feel like I can easily make links to other studied texts.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

The concept of the Angel in the House and the traditional woman vs the modern woman. This will aid my academic journey as I will consider different perspectives when analysing texts.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

- I like to further explore feminism more interestingly - the ideas of the New Woman relate to modern technology
- Discuss ~~the~~ ^{the} use of time in literature

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

I am interested in looking further into the identity of the New Woman and the feminist movement that pushed it forwards.

In my Film Studies course, we also look out the New Woman, so this is further incentive to do more research.

Today I realised the link between gender and time, which interested me. I want to find more ways to link two topics that seem to be unrelated.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

I found the theme of time very interesting, as I would never have considered it as a literary theme because it seems so mundane.

I like the idea that Murphy considered, that time and the patriarch are intrinsically linked and aimed to reduce women's social mobility
- Hannah Davies.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymised comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

Time is a product of the patriarch!

Jordan Davies is genius!

The session was so good I received great feedback & I really enjoyed learning about feminist references to feminism which are often neglected within the exam books

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymised comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

Today I learnt about the concept of the Angel in the house, and learned the further significance of time in 'The Great Gatsby'.

I think it's helpful that you taught us about a novel from the time period we study for our exam.

Thank you for helping us!

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymised comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

I think Jane Roth Robbins (2000) -> "Representation is not the sure thing as reality" is very pertinent for the question of feminism, I'd argue with in our next lecture

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymised comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Sadie ☺ stay stronger!

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

I now want to read the story of an African farm. It was interesting to learn about the waves of feminism and would enjoy researching into it more. I also enjoyed the structure of the lecture and the analysis case.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Jessica Webb ☺

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

I really enjoyed looking through the story of an African farm and considering reading it.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

Dear my future Conscience,

Today I had the greatest pleasure of an experiencing a University style lecture that greatly enriched my knowledge and understanding of Fitzgerald's work.

Hi Izzy's future conscience,

How is your political career going?

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

Today I want about the impacts of feminism over the course of the years are now it has impacted feminism today.

was amazing ending out how feminism affected Fitzgerald's writing of Daisy.

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymous comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk

Write a message to your future self here. You may want to note down something you want to remember about the lecture/workshop, and comment on how you plan to use what you've learned.

I learnt about feminism
in a greater depth,
this will help me in future assessments
when referring to female characters

Sarah Lee xxx

Contact data is stored securely by the University of Salford in accordance with GDPR. We will not use your contact email for any purpose or pass to third parties. Please be aware that quotes from the postcards may be used for research purposes (for example in research journal articles, published on an academic blog, or used to evidence research impact in university and public reports). Please only send the postcard if you are happy for your anonymous/anonymised comments to be used in this way. Your postcards will be returned to you via your teacher/s in 4-12 weeks' time for reflection, and you will then be invited to complete a short survey to find out if you were able to use what you learned. Any questions? Get in touch: southafricanmodernism@salford.ac.uk