Dear Mr Mehta

I refer to your email dated 5 October 2012 to the Lord Mayor, Brisbane City Council, seeking its support for the Queensland Government's 'No minor offence' secondary supply campaign.

As the regulation of alcohol and secondary supply falls within the portfolio of Justice and Attorney-General, the Brisbane City Council has asked if I could offer you some assistance with promoting this message.

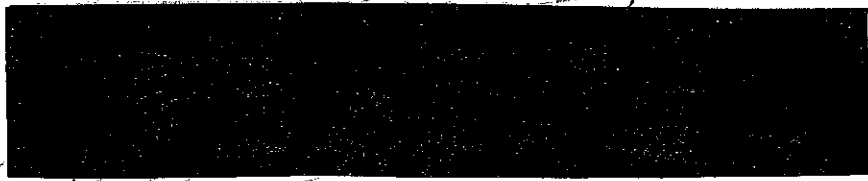

As you would be aware, the campaign has been launched online, and all licensees are asked to promote this campaign using the posters or LCD screen images available on the Office of Liquor and Gaming website (www.olgr.qld.gov.au).

I am advised that officers from within the Office of Regulatory Policy have already been working closely with you regarding the promotion of this important community awareness campaign. I am also aware that you have arranged advertising of campaign signage to be displayed at various locations, including on numerous street light poles, Suncorp Stadium, Brisbane CityCats, Queen Street Mall, King George Square and the Gold Coast.

I want to acknowledge the considerable time and resources you have personally contributed to promoting this campaign. Should you require any further assistance, please contact Mr Brock Avis, Senior Policy and Research Officer, Office of Regulatory Policy on 3224 2630 who would be pleased to assist.

Thank you for your support.

Yours sincerely

JARROD BLEIJIE MP
Attorney-General and Minister for Justice
