

Figure S12: MDS plots for human chromosomes 1-8. The first column shows the MDS visualization of relationships between windows, and the second and third columns show the midpoint of each window against the two MDS coordinates; rows correspond to chromosomes. Colorful vertical lines show the breakpoints of known valid inversions, while grey vertical lines show the breakpoints of predicted inversions.