

Thank you again for taking part in our experiment!

Your answers have been submitted. In case you have any remarks or questions on the experiment or the topic of code reviews in general, don't hesitate to contact tobias.baum@inf.uni-hannover.de (Tobias Baum). Also drop us a line if you want to be informed about the results of the research. Alternatively, you can follow us on Twitter (@tb\_luh, @sback\_) or find the results on the website <http://tobias-baum.de> as soon as they are published. It would be fantastic if you could forward the experiment invitation to friends, colleagues, and other developers who may be appropriate.

A unique ID has been generated for your data so that you will be able to find yourself in the result data set without compromising anonymity. This ID will also be used to let you know whether you have won a cash prize. Your ID is 19bkR5q. If you want to find out whether you have won or want to find your results when we publish the raw data, please note it down. The IDs of the winners will be published over the above-mentioned channels in August.