

Rewinding the archive: creative applications of sounds from the past

Simon Connor & Justin Richards
University of Salford

Creative applications of personal audio archives

Those that are hidden at home, in basements, in sheds and under beds, the attic archives; dictaphones, demo tapes and dusty forgotten reel-to-reels of personal audio treasures.

Creative applications of personal audio archives

- Action Space Live (2016, Wahl) live A-V performance
& documentary film soundtrack
(Sound Designer - Simon Connor)
- Recording artist Gammer (Record Producer - Justin Richards)

Action Space (1968 - 1978)

Excerpt from Action Space (Wahl, 2016)

What is gained from unearthing and performing the archive?

What is gained from unearthing and performing the archive?

- 'a direct sensation of the past' (Noordegraaf, 2015)

What is gained from unearthing and performing the archive?

- 'a direct sensation of the past' (Noordegraaf, 2015)
- 'found arks of lost moments in which the here-and-now of the work serves as a possible portal between an unfinished past and a reopened future' (Foster, 2004, p15).

Bibliography

- British Sound Library. (2015). Save our Sounds. Retrieved from <https://www.bl.uk/projects/save-our-sounds>.
- British Sound Library. (2016). Directory of UK Sound Collections. Retrieved from <https://www.bl.uk/projects/uk-sound-directory>
- Connor, S. (2018). Auralising Action Space: channelling a sense of play in documentary sound design. In Cox, Geoffrey and Corner, John (Eds.) Soundings: documentary film and the listening experience. University of Huddersfield Press, University of Huddersfield.
- Foster, H. (2004). An Archival Impulse. October, 110, 3-22. Retrieved from <http://www.jstor.org/stable/3397555>
- Noordegraaf, J.J. (2015, December). Participatory Archiving. Audiovisual Archives in the Digital Age. Paper presented at Netherlands Institute in Saint Petersburg (NIP)
- Open Music Archive. (n.d) Retrieved from <http://www.openmusicarchive.org/>
- Public Service Broadcasting. (2013). Inform-Educate-Entertain (2013). [CD]. UK. Test Card Recordings.
- Wahl, H. (2016). Action Space. UK: Distrify.com.