

The design 'Piper' was inspired by a piece of linen called Stones of Bath. This was a John Piper print, manufactured by Arthur Anderson and Sons Ltd. I was captured by the depth of colour, the intensity of the pattern, and the abstract qualities of the design. My design originated from collaged textures, that were screen printed as a one-colour repeat, and then overprinted using cut-paper stencils. It is printed in natural dyes onto silk-hemp, wool, and silk.
