Referensi, Sitasi, Plagiasi

WHAT are

Citation, reference, bibliography and plagiarism (Sabnis, 2018)

Citation

A citation is a mention of the original source (article, books, website, etc.) in main text of a document.

Reference

A reference list corresponds to a complete list of citations, appearing at the end of the document.

Bibliography

A bibliography is a list of additional materials not mentioned in the text, but supplementary to it.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is passing someone's work as your own without obtaining permission or acknowledging their contribution.

WHAT goes

Into a reference (Sabnis, 2018)

Basic components of a reference:

- ❑ Author(s)
- ❑ Title of works
- ❑ Second title (if any)
- ❑ Journal
- ❑ Publication date/year
- ❑ Volume (and issue)
- ❑ Page number(s)
- ❑ Editor/translator/other contributor
- ❑ URL or web address: for online items
- ❑ DOI: where there is one (only one of URL/DOI may be necessary)
- ❑ Date accessed: when you looked at an online item. This is often handy to know, even if your referencing style doesn't require it.

WHY Reference

Six knowledge-related reasons for referencing (Neville, 2010)

Facilitates the tracing of the origin of ideas

1

Helps you to build a web of ideas

2

Supports your own voice
in academic writing

3

4

Validates arguments

5

Helps to spread
knowledge

6

Acknowledges
the work of others

WHEN to Reference

Six scenarios (Neville, 2010)

- To inform the reader of the source of tables, statistics, diagrams, photographs and other illustrations included in your assignment
- When describing or discussing a theory, model, practice or example associated with a particular writer; or using their work to illustrate examples in your text (this links specifically to the next two items)
- To give weight or credibility to an argument supported by you in your assignment
- When giving emphasis to a particular theory, model or practice that has found a measure of agreement and support amongst commentators
- To inform the reader of the sources of direct quotations or definitions in your assignment
- When paraphrasing another person's work, which is outside the realm of common knowledge, and that you feel is particularly significant, or likely to be a subject of debate.

WHEN you Do not need for reference (Neville, 2010)

when presenting historical overviews

when presenting
your own experiences

In conclusions
when you are repeating ideas
previously referenced

when summarizing
what is regarded as
'common knowledge'

BE careful

About what/how you cite (Sabnis, 2018)

Literature reviews

Although reviews article are a brilliant source of knowledge, it is best to cite the original research article to rightfully give credit to the authors who actually did all the work.

Keeping it current

Ensure that you have cited the most up-to-date sources.

Wikipedia

Not the most dependable source; the content changes over a period of time and is not fully trustworthy. Therefore, it is best not to cite it.

Data

It is now also becoming common to cite data. The Force11 website provides guidelines on doing it properly.

Self-citation, is it okay?

SELF-citation

Sabnis (2018)

- Self-citation occurs when authors cite their own work.
- Nowadays, major industry players have sophisticated tools to identify instances of excessive self-citation (e.g., Nature blog article mentions that 66 journals were banned from Web of Science for excessive self-citation).
- It could be author/journal/co-author/publisher- specific.

You can cite your previous work if:

- ☐ Your current study is a continuation of the previous study or build upon it.
- ☐ You are building a coherent piece of work in a given field.
- ☐ The ratio of the number self-cites to external ones is comparable to that of others in your field.

Pengutipan pertama menyoroti pada klaim atau argumen yang diusulkan sedang pengutipan kedua menandakan bahwa Rahmaniah adalah tokoh penting di kajian ini

Alur menyusun kutipan

Perhatian:

- ☐ Jangan pernah merujuk pernyataan atau klaim yang tidak Anda pahami.
- ☐ Rujukan terbaik adalah yang paling relevan, bukan berdasarkan indeksasi dan/ kuartil jurnal.

Plagiarisme

Salah satu jenis kesalahan publikasi yang paling umum adalah plagiarisme - ketika seorang penulis dengan sengaja menggunakan karya orang lain tanpa izin, kredit, atau pengakuan. Plagiarisme memiliki berbagai variasi, mulai dari verbatim (penyalinan literal) hingga parafrase karya orang lain dan dapat mencakup: (1) data; (2) kata atau frase; dan/ (3) ide atau konsep.

Plagiarisme memiliki berbagai tingkat keparahan, seperti:

- ☐ Berapa banyak karya seseorang yang diambil –beberapa baris, satu paragraf, satu halaman, atau satu artikel lengkap?
- ☐ Apa yang disalin –hasil , metode, atau bagian pendahuluan?

Selalu beri penghargaan pada pekerjaan orang lain (termasuk karya Anda sebelumnya). Anda harus selalu mengakui temuan orang lain yang menjadi dasar penelitian Anda.

Similaritas \neq Plagiasi

Perangkat pengecekan similaritas (bahkan yang mengklaim sebagai mesin pendeteksi plagiasi) pada dasarnya adalah perangkat yang berusaha menelusuri dan menemukan kesamaan teks pada sebuah sumber yang disimpan pada basis data tertentu.

Penting!!!

- Manusia tidak menyampaikan ide dengan satu BAHASA yang sama, sedangkan piranti ini hanya mampu mengecek similaritas teks dengan tulisan atau karakter dalam SATU bahasa yang sama.
- Penerjemahan ide dari bahasa satu ke bahasa lain belum dapat diantisipasi.

- Pada kasus-kasus tertentu memang ditemukan teks yang mengandung kalimat yg frozen, yg tidak dapat diganti dengan kata-kata lain sehingga adanya similaritas merupakan hal yg lumrah.
- Tidak adanya similaritas bukan berarti bebas plagiasi.

- Piranti ini selayaknya dimanfaatkan sebagaimana motivasi diciptakannya alat ini untuk tujuan meningkatkan kualitas tulisan, bukan untuk menghakimi seseorang berlaku plagiat.
- Hanya orang yang ahli di topik tsb yg bisa memberikan komentar plagiat/ tidak setelah melakukan konfirmasi.

Abstract

For some, it was the historical precedence of Latin script over Arabic in Internet. At times, the Arabic language was not supported by the widespread technology, thus Arabizi was the only possible way to communicate over the Net, and thus it was adopted. This is still valid, because some computer have no Arabic language capabilities. On the first level, the original Windows came in English and ; PC users found themselves constrained to use Latin script on their computers. On another level, Arabic keyboards are still not widely spread. Some computers do not have Arabic letters at all. Arabizi, a term that describes a system of writing Arabic in Latin script and the Arabic numerals, is now more popular than ever, especially online. To communicate with others in Arabizi,numbers are mixed to represent some letters in Arabic, such as 2, 3, 6, and 7. 2

Keywords: Arabicscript, Latin characters in Arabic, Arabizi

A. Pendahuluan

Abjad Arab dan bahasa Arab tulis mulai berkembang sejak abad ke-6 atau ke-7 Masehi, yang tentu saja berkaitan erat dengan penyebaran kitab suci Alquran. Tidak terdapat dokumentasi yang jelas berkaitan dengan perkembangan penulisan Arab sebelum masa itu dan terdapat jumlah yang sedikit mengenai teks-teks yang muncul pada periode pra-Islam, terkadang hanya dalam bentuk batu, prasasti, atau naskah.

Bahasa Arab memiliki sistem penulisan yang khusus layaknya bahasa China, Jepang, dan Rusia karena memiliki aksara khusus, tidak seperti bahasa Indonesia, Inggris, dan Spanyol yang menggunakan sistem penulisan yang sama dengan menggunakan huruf Latin. Menurut Wightwick (2005) terdapat beberapa prinsip dasar dalam penulisan

ABSTRACT

Community service activities have a purpose to make the subjects of Javanese Language teachers have proficiency in: (1) installing Hanacaraka font in computer peripheral; (2) typing Javanese script; (3) as well as producing personalized Javanese literature learning materials, according to the conditions and needs of their students in the form of flashcards, memes, comic strips, and running text. The target audience of these activities are members and administrators of Javanese MGMP Junior High School consisting of 42 participants from 32 schools throughout Klaten District. This activity was preceded by conducting needs analysis through interviews and surveys of Java language teachers. Focus group discussion involves MGMP Java language to determine priority constraints that plural teachers face, which will be sought solutions. Implementation of activities carried out by demonstration, practicing Hanacaraka font, typing Javanese script, and making learning media using computer peripheral. Forms of activity are designed using training strategies to ensure participants' skills in writing and producing learning media with Javanese script on computer devices can be mastered well.

PENDAHULUAN

Hasil survei melalui wawancara dan dan penyebaran angket kepada beberapa anggota MGMP Bahasa Jawa SMP didapati informasi bahwa kondisi mata pelajaran bahasa Jawa perlu mendapatkan perhatian yang lebih intensif, terutama imbas dari hadirnya Kurikulum 2013 yang tidak secara tersurat mencantumkan mata pelajaran Bahasa Jawa di jenjang pendidikan dasar dan menengah. Bahkan, jumlah jam pelajaran Bahasa Jawa hanya 2 JP per minggu (Gubernur Jawa Tengah, 2012, 2013). Konsekuensi dari kebijakan itu antara lain munculnya persepsi anak didik bahwa mata pelajaran Bahasa Jawa kurang diminati dan memiliki kesan kurang menarik.

WARTA LPM, Vol. 21, No. 1, Maret 2018: 59-71

59

Kendala-kendala utama yang dihadapi oleh guru-guru mata pelajaran Bahasa Jawa antara lain terkait langkanya media pembelajaran, kurangnya minat dan motivasi belajar anak didik, sarana dan infrastruktur yang kurang memadai, serta beban administratif guru. Semenjak bergulirnya Sertifikasi Guru, para guru makin disibukkan dengan tugas tugas administrasi sebagai dampak sebagai "guru profesional". Fokus dan perhatian kepada anak didik semakin pudar, RPP jarang dimodifikasi, media pembelajaran dan alat peraga menjadi barang langka yang ditemui anak didik. Imbasnya, anak didik menjadi cepat jenuh dalam pembelajaran.

Dari penelusuran hasil-hasil PTK, tidak banyak dihasilkan model-model

Abstract

Name has a great influence in building the success of a business. The business strategy of people of Arab descent is to use Arabic words rather than English words to build the image of his shop. The data were taken by observing and taking pictures of store names from promotional media, store board, banner, and neon box followed by interviews with 10 shopkeepers. The data are then analyzed by classify the store names from the writing system and tracing the reference words used. The results show that business names are more dominated by single Arabic words; a small portion is an Arab-English combination. Interpretasi hasil laporan

Sebelum diskusi kita mulai, silakan unduh contoh laporan hasil pengecekan di

<https://s.id/laporan-similaritas>

Sudah?

- Secara otomatis laporan menyajikan hasil kesamaan dengan urutan terbesar-terkecil.
- Cermati masing-masing sumber (tautan) yg ada di laporan, terutama yg terbesar.
- Waspada! hasil similaritas >3%.

- Cermati setiap teks yg tersorot, apakah karena kata-kata yg lazim, kutipan (diikuti dengan sumber rujukan), bagian header/footer, daftar pustaka, atau yang lain?
- Abaikan jika penulis mengutip, konfirmasi apabila tanpa rujukan.

- Menurut aturan Kemristekdikti hasil similaritas >25% harus disertai dengan konfirmasi dari penulis tentang ada tidaknya indikasi plagiasi.
- Ingat bahwa hasil besar \neq plagiasi dan hasil kecil \neq bebas plagiasi.
